Welcome to the Claw Paper

---

Abstract

The Black Panther is an animal full of symbolism full of meaning in Africa but also elsewhere to people around the world.

This paper introduces a token called "Black Panther Token" created in homage to this powerful symbol while being a vehicle to bring awareness about health and wellness specifically around illnesses that disproportionately affect people of African descent globally, as well as educate and bring more people into the crypto/Web3 space, empowering them with information around investing in crypto.

---

We are committed to creating real change in how our communities are treated!

We'll be tackling sickle cell, colon cancer, and other illnesses which afflict our diaspora.

---

Introduction

If the symbol of the Black Panther moves you, you will love the Black Panther token.

We will dedicate 10% of the project to a charity wallet that will provide funds to educate and raise awareness about illnesses such as colon cancer, the 2nd leading cause of cancer deaths in the world, Sickle Cell Anemia, an illness with very little research dedicated to it, as well as other illnesses that disproportionately affect people of African descent globally.

We are building a community that will create awareness and offer solutions

Black Panther Coin and the community will contribute to the good fight by donating to charities, hospitals and research institutions as well as give direct support to people for treatment.

The charity wallet will also fund research globally for alternative treatments and promote the food as medicine movement funding doctors who specialize in the use of diet for treatment, especially for “lifestyle diseases” which are leading causes of mortality globally.

Why Does Black Panther Exist?

Black Panther Coin is created to offer a Web3/Blockchain Crypto platform that helps bring new people to the space with a meme coin. We believe the strength of the powerful symbol of the Black Panther will draw people to the project's purpose.

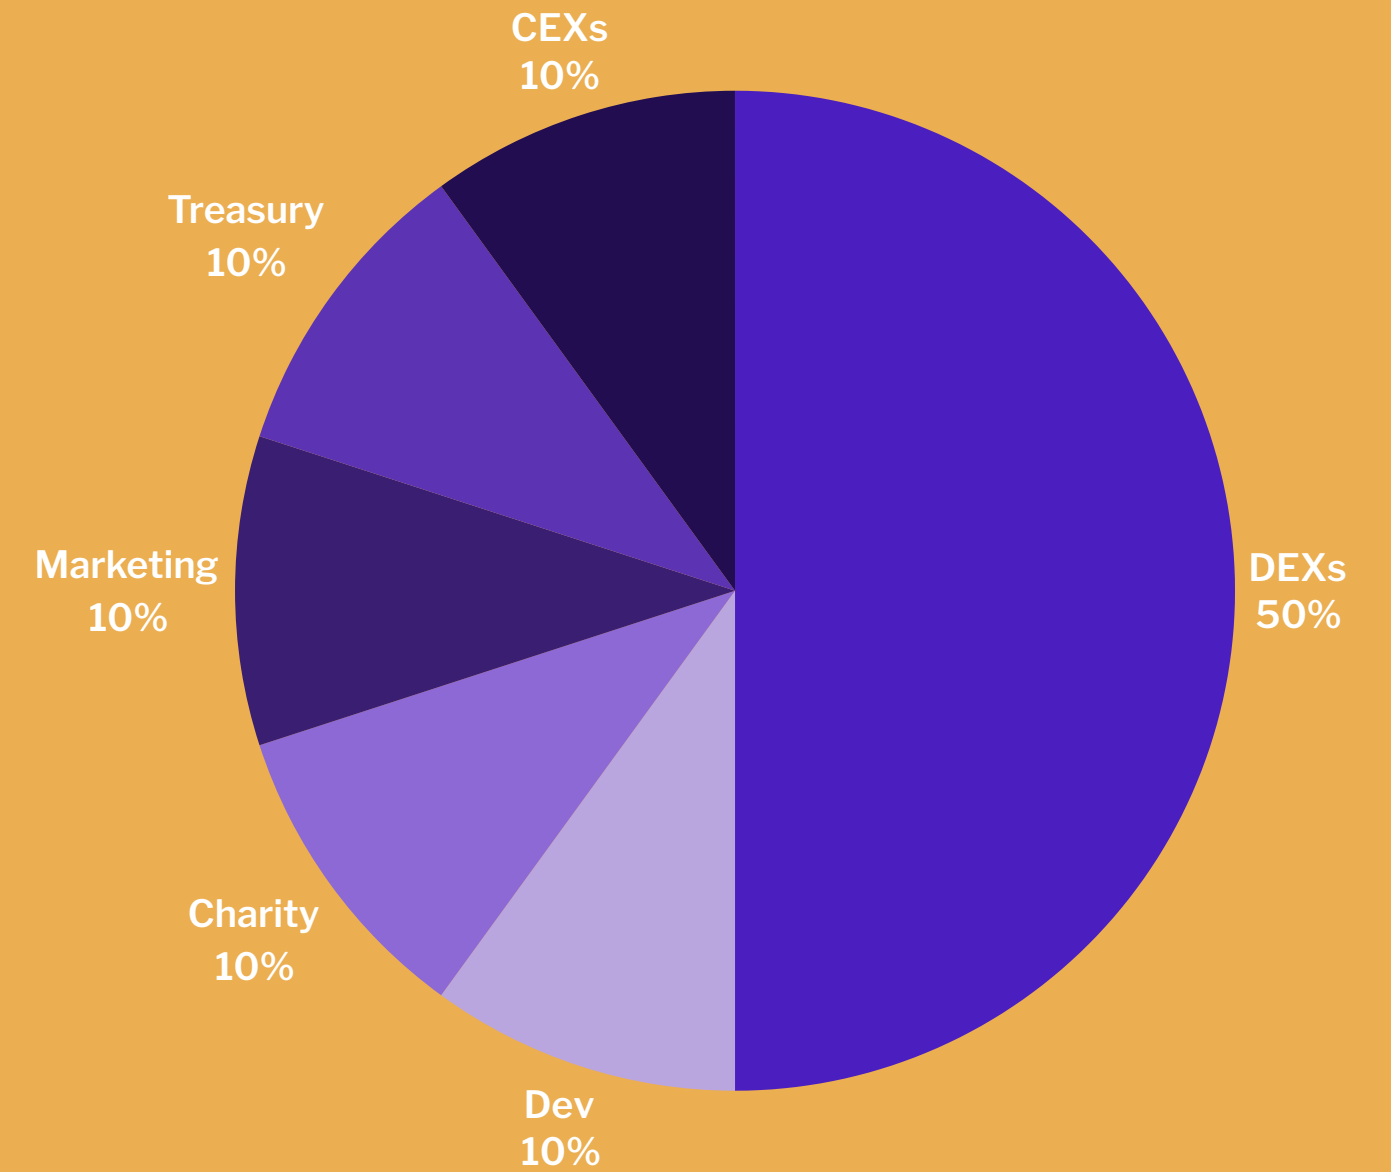

We wish to leverage the awareness of the meme coin project to create awareness about health and wellness, help educate people on alternative treatments including food as medicine as well as educate and bring new people to the incredibly versatile crypto, Web3/Blockchain space to build and create solutions around a myriad range of issues.
